A Vietnamese soldier swings stick at two Viet Cong suspects as he questions them about the disappearance of French newswoman Michel Ray (see inset picture) nearly a week ago in the central lowlands. The pair, questioned at Ngoc An near Bong Son, 280 miles northeast of Saigon, said they saw Miss Ray being led away by Viet Cong Jan. 17. Her small French car was found at Ngoc An this week.

Ky's Car Battered By Angry N.Z. Mob

AUCKLAND (AP) — New Zealand policemen with police dogs broke up a wild brawl at Auckland airport tonight after demonstrators stopped the car of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam by throwing themselves on the roadway.

Women hurled themselves in front of the speeding black limousine, and men pounded on the windows with their fists as a shower of eggs splattered against the car.

Screaming and punching at policemen who tried to stop them, the demonstrators forced the driver of the car to brake quickly. Police dragged two women and several men from the road as the crowd of about 300 surged around the vehicle.

Ky appeared anxious as a burly New Zealander thumped the window and cursed him. The booing, jeering crowd chanted "Ky, go Ky, go" and "Fascist Fascist".

Placards and lumps of wood bounced off the car as it sped off after a delay of about three minutes.

The crowd tried to stop other cars in the motorcade, and fights between police and demonstrators continued for several minutes after Ky was on his way to a downtown Auckland hotel. There another crowd of about 200 hurled ink at policemen and kept up a continuous booing that could be heard for several blocks.

Security police surrounded Ky as he stepped from the limousine and walked briskly to an elevator.

The demonstrators at the airport waited more than an hour for Ky's plane to arrive from Wellington, the capital 450 miles to the south.

Word 'Higher' Used A Lot In LBJ's Budget Outline

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called today for higher taxes, higher postal rates and higher pay - cheque deductions to help finance the biggest U.S. budget in history.

Along with a $135,000,000 spending blueprint for fiscal 1968, the year starting next July 1, the president sent a hands-off warning to Congress members who are rumbling loudly at rising deficits.

Deep budget cuts could cause a recession instead of the expected seventh successive year of record prosperity, Johnson's annual budget message said.

He said "the economy, the budget, and the aims of our society would be jeopardized by either a large tax increase or by large slashes in military or civilian programs.

The budget bears what Johnson called "the deep imprint" of Vietnam. Acknowledging that the war is beginning to pinch, Johnson asked $19,400,000,000 for Vietnam alone in this year's expanded $47,000,000,000 defence department budget and $21,900,000,000 in the $72,300,000,000 defence department budget for fiscal 1968. Roughly another $500,000,000 in each year would be spent for economic aid in Vietnam through the Agency for International Development.

Federal officials at the 1963 meeting have supported Mr. Gordon in saying that Mr. Rockefeller had claimed there was no firm commitment at the time for sale of Mercantile.

Mr. Rockefeller contradicted this today with official documents showing a firm commitment had been made.

He said he told Mr. Gordon this but apparently "I didn't get the message across to the Canadian people present."

Mercantile is before the committee to oppose a Bank Act amendment which would halt its expansion in Canada.

Rockefeller Confirms Bank Bought Here 'At Own Peril'

OTTAWA (CP) — James S. Rockefeller confirmed today a report that he told Walter Gordon in 1963 his First National City Bank of New York would proceed "at our own peril" if it purchased the Mercantile Bank of Canada.

Testifying before the Commons Finance Committee, the chairman of City Bank quoted Mr. Gordon, then finance minister, as warning that Mercantile might face a future denial of its federal charter.

City Bank bought Mercantile from Dutch interests some time after the meeting in question.

Botulism 'Not Culprit' In 2 Deaths

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officials probing the suspected food poisoning deaths of a Summerland woman and her nine-year-old son said Monday an analysis of the victims' stomach contents has failed to shed any light on the case.

Doctors originally suspected the deaths were caused by botulism, a form of food poisoning resulting from botulinus organisms in improperly home-canned foods.

But Coroner H. B. Munn of Summerland said Monday: "I think this has now been ruled out. More samples have been sent to the pesticide laboratory at Wenatchee, Wash."

The victims, Mrs. Dorothy Hollinger, 32, and her son, Todd, were found at their home Jan. 13. Mrs. Hollinger was dead and the boy died later in hospital. The husband recovered and was later released from hospital.

Samples from the Hollinger home were tested by Dr. Claude Dolman, University of B.C. professor of microbiology and one of the country's top bacteriologists, but nothing was found.

Said Dr. Munn: "We're now looking to see if it could have been a spray poison or something else."

He said he hoped for results by the end of the week.

Ex-Nazi Claims 'I Didn't Know'

MUNICH (Reuters) — A former Nazi security chief who initiated the mass deportation of Jews from Holland during the Second World War said at his trial here today he did not know they were going to die in German concentration camps.

Wilhelm Harster, 62, chief of Nazi security services in occupied Holland, Wilhelm Zopf, 58, former mayor in the SS (elite guard), and his secretary, Gertrud Slotke, 64, are charged with aiding and abetting the murder of nearly 95,000 Dutch Jews deported to German concentration camps.

An order signed by Harster in February, 1942, and read in court today, described one of his department's tasks as "preparing the final solution to the Jewish question."

When presiding Judge Karl Goepfer asked Harster what he had understood by "final solution," Harster said he thought then the plan meant deportation of Jews outside Europe.

Army Chiefs To Back Mao

TOKYO (AP) — China's official news agency said today the country's military commanders have vowed to help Mao Tse-tung seize "party, state, financial and other power from the persons in authority who are taking the capitalist road."

It was a rare admission that such broad power had slipped from Mao's hands.

Japanese correspondents in Peking quoted wall posters as saying the army had gone into action during the weekend to crush an uprising in the Peking suburb of Fangshan. Wall posters also reported clashes in Tientsin, 100 miles southeast of Peking, and in Paoting, 80 miles southwest of the capital.

Red Guard wall bulletins said army troops moved into Fangshan and seized control of the Communist party's county headquarters and the security bureau. The bulletins said a "handful of counter-revolutionary elements" had "arrested several hundred revolutionaries and subjected them to fascist torture."

GET SUPPORT

The New China news agency reported pledges of support from "commanders and fighters of the three services of the Chinese People's Liberation Army" in 13 cities and areas.

It did not mention Kiangsi, the southeast province where Mao's opponents are reported to have formed an army of workers and peasants.

Another agency dispatch related a series of seizures by pro-Mao forces and thereby revealed that at one time or another his opponents controlled wide sectors of trade, industry and finance.

Britain's Entry Into ECM Seen As Curb On U.S. Grip

PARIS (CP) — Prime Minister Wilson told President de Gaulle today Britain sees its entry into the European Common Market as a way of curbing American industrial domination in Europe.

Without producing any new proposals, Wilson stressed the need for a pan European effort in the technological field as a means of heading off the danger, as he saw it, of American domination. He said Britain's skills and technological resources, including its knowhow in the field of civilian nuclear development, could bolster an all-European effort.

On the subject of relations with East Europe, another theme close to de Gaulle's heart, Wilson held out the prospect of promoting a lively dialogue and then a living partnership with the Communist world.

He portrayed such a movement in the context of a wider united Europe in which the countries of an expanded Common Market could play a leading role.

It's Winter Or Spring In Canada Depending On Where You Are

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A mixture of snow and freezing drizzle greeted roads in most of the Maritime provinces and Newfoundland today, but a storm moving out of Ontario and Quebec left those provinces enjoying bright skies and unseasonably warm temperatures.

It was cold in Western Canada, with temperatures Monday and overnight ranging from 20 below zero to 30 above.

Ontario continued to enjoy spring-like weather today despite a 16-degree drop in temperatures, which had set records across the province Monday.

Temperatures were still about 10 degrees above normal in Southern Ontario. Rain was forecast for tonight in the south, with snow in Northern Ontario.

It was 61 degrees at Windsor Monday, and 57 in Toronto. On the same date last year Toronto endured the worst snowstorm in 21 years.

Warm air from the Gulf of Mexico continued to move eastward, pushing ahead of it a band of snow and freezing drizzle that slowly gave way to rain.

HOPE FOR SUNSHINE

Intermittent freezing drizzle was expected to continue over most of the Maritimes today, the hope of drier air and sunny skies Wednesday.

Manitoba shivered under temperatures ranging from seven below at Winnipeg to 22 below at Churchill. A cloudy disturbance was expected to dump snow in the southeastern part of the province.

Arctic air in the northern interior of British Columbia was expected to blanket all but the southern coastal area of the province tonight.

THRONE SPEECH HIGHLIGHTS

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Highlights of the throne speech read Tuesday at the opening of the B.C. legislature:

New department of travel industry to be established.

Financial help proposed for home-buyers who have not received a home - owner's grant.

Capital fund proposed to stabilize a crop insurance program for tree fruits industry.

Cultural assistance fund proposed to promote, stimulate and expand cultural resources of B.C. residents.

Measures to implement an expanded program of housing for low-income groups will be introduced.

Mental health services to be expanded in the Okanagan, Kootenay and Upper Vancouver Island areas.

Protection of buyers of consumer goods from door-to-door salesmen and disclosure of credit costs also will be proposed.

Air pollution section planned for department of health.

College Aid Plan Continues

Despite termination of the federal - provincial agreement on technical and vocational training, the B.C. government will continue to construct and operate regional vocational schools.

The announced intention preceded notice the session will consider amendments to the Public Schools Act.

"During the past year my government has vigorously pursued its programme to bring modern, diversified services within reach of all sections of the province," the speech said.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) session of the legislative council of the united colony of B.C. was opened here Jan. 24, 1967.

Proceedings Tuesday were staged in Queen's Park Hockey Arena, near the site of the original session opening.

The speech said the legislature will be asked to approve three major funds—to establish a cultural assistance grant, a crop insurance scheme and to retire debt on New Westminster's Queensborough bridge.

The speech said the "government . . . is satisfied that we are now in a position to turn further attention to the promotion, stimulation, and expansion of the cultural resources of our people."

"You will be asked to consider establishment of a cultural assistance fund."

Details were not given on the crop insurance scheme but the speech said members will be asked to approve setting up a fund to stabilize a program for tree fruits established at the last session. Size of the fund was estimated to be about $5,000,000.

Plans to establish a home purchaser's grant for first-time buyers were mentioned.

Under the plan, first announced at last year's session by Premier Bennett, buyers will receive a $500 grant from a $25,000,000 fund the legislature will be asked to set up.

"During the past year my government has vigorously pursued its programme to bring modern, diversified services within reach of all sections of the province," the speech said.

"A major reorganization and expansion of the entire secondary-school systems has been completed and is now being consolidated and implemented throughout the province.

"Attention has been directed to the provision of up-to-date courses and new teaching materials in all major fields of learning. Further, to meet the increasing educational requirements of our technological age, my government proposes to continue its planned programme of expansion of educational facilities at the post-secondary-school level in the British Columbia vocational schools, the Institute of Technology and in district or regional colleges."

Mental Health Drive Boosted

Mental health services in the Okanagan, Kootenay and Upper Vancouver Island areas will be expanded this year, the speech said.

The speech said 14 major hospital projects were completed last year.

"Facilities for over 1,000 new beds are under construction throughout the province, representing construction costs exceeding $25,000,000. Major projects now being planned represent a further investment of approximately $50,000,000."

The speech estimated that in the current fiscal year an estimated $90,000,000 will be paid by the government for B.C. residents requiring hospital treatment under the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

The 104-bed unit at Tranquille school for mentally retarded children opened recently near Kamloops was in full use. Provincial property at New Denver has been renovated to accommodate emotionally disturbed children.

This year recruitment of staff for the centres at Prince George and Kamloops will be undertaken, and services in the Okanagan, Kootenay and Upper Vancouver Island areas will be expanded."

CNR LINE CUT

BLUE RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Canadian National Railways crews worked today to restore 1,000 feet of track on the CN main line, uprooted Monday when 10 cars of a westbound passenger train left the tracks near this small community.

The 10 cars, all passenger units, carried about 80 persons, none of whom was injured in the derailment. A CN spokesman said the train was travelling about 30 miles an hour when the cars hit a broken section of track.

Priest Due For Court Hearing: Reporters Told Of 'Miracles'

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP) — Rev. Jean de la Trinite, Quebec leader of a breakaway Roman Catholic sect which operates a monastery in the Laurentian Mountains, is due to appear in court today on charges of placing children in "moral and physical danger."

Crown Prosecutor Andre Fautoux said Monday that if Father Jean shows up court will be adjourned for an on-the-spot inspection of the monastery, near St. Jerome, about 70 miles northwest of Montreal.

Father Jean, who heads the sect known as Apostles of Infinite Love, did not appear in court today on charges of placing children in "moral and physical danger."

Father Jean sent more than 70 children into hiding after welfare officials threatened to take them away from his monastery, charging that the children were badly fed and poorly educated. He denies these charges.

Bosses 'Mad' At Bugging

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two RCMP officers Monday told a royal commission investigating the electronic eavesdropping at a pulp union's Vancouver convention they got into trouble with their superiors for their part in the affair.

Corporal Harry Reed and Constable Eugene P. Ouellette testified they acted independently—with no official involvement—in recommending a private detective to Pat O'Neal, organizer for the International Brotherhood of Pulp and Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

The two security and intelligence branch members confirmed earlier testimony Mr. O'Neal that he asked them to suggest someone who could help him obtain information at the convention of the rival Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada.

After telling Mr. O'Neal at first that he couldn't help him, Constable Ouellette said, he recommended Bud Graham, whose bugging devices at the downtown hotel were discovered by police.

When senior RCMP officials heard about their involvement in the bugging incident, Corporal Reed and Constable Ouellette were called on to explain their actions.

Proposal For New Cities Would Avert 'Megapolis'

TORONTO (CP) — Defence Minister Hellyer offered a solution Monday night to the problem of crowded cities—get rid of them, at least temporarily.

He told the annual meeting of the Canadian Construction Association that there is no orthodox solution to the problem of urban living.

"The unorthodox and radical option that I am suggesting tonight is the only one which I think, both mathematically and from the standpoint of the human values involved, will work," he told the 700 delegates.

"It is to build new cities starting as soon as practicable to take the pressure off existing urban centres, then to draw definite limits around existing cities in order to redevelop them over the years in an orderly way."

Mr. Hellyer explained later that he was talking personally and not as a cabinet minister expressing government policy, but he added he hopes his suggestion will be accepted "in the foreseeable future."

PAUL HELLYER... temporary plan

He mentioned no areas where these new cities would be developed but he said that after they had taken the pressure off existing communities, redevelopment of present cities could take place.

OFFERS PLAN

He said he is not ready to present it as a serious proposal yet; he was just getting it out for serious discussion and if it made sense it would take hold.

Mr. Hellyer—MP for Toronto Trinity—said the city he represents is one of the most progressive in North America.

"And yet amidst this environment are developing what could become almost insurmountable problems of everyday existence."

"Already this city, like most others in Canada, has fallen victim to urban sprawl—the exodus to the suburbs by literally hundreds of thousands of people who, I suppose, originally hoped to get away from it all and later found that they had only increased their problems."

This is because, Mr. Hellyer said, cities were designed with the horse and buggy in mind and so today people are left to face "the uncontrolled fury of the megapolis."

If cities cannot cope with problems of traffic and expansion today, "How in the world are we going to cope with them in 10 years time?" Mr. Hellyer asked.

NOT FOR PROVINCES

Admitting that urban development is a provincial responsibility, he said no province could afford to finance his concept in the initial stages and "I don't think the concept should be dismissed because of constitutional problems."

"What I am talking about is not satellite towns or cities with population limits of 10,000, 50,000, 100,000, but whole new great urban environments started from scratch with an ultimate design limit of one, two, three or four million people, depending on the geographical and other considerations involved."

"It is absolutely essential to have co-operation between the provincial and federal jurisdictions in the achievement of such a bold but nevertheless essential development."

Only the federal government, he said, could provide the money needed at first, but the developments soon would become self-sufficient in generating capital.

The proposed new cities could be designed to make maximum use of new developments to provide pleasant and useful living, including mass rapid transit.

Royal Canadian Engineer Band Highlights Week's Activities

By KAREN SHUMAY

The Royal Canadian Engineers' Band from Chilliwack highlighted the week at the George Elliot Secondary School in Winfield.

The band's performance Tuesday night was under the direction of Captain Camplin.

MUSIC-FILLED HALL

Music and laughter filled the auditorium. The exhilarating program included selections from Doctor Zhivago and individual instrument solos.

An enjoyable feature was the humorous musical skit involving muskets, ducks, ballerinas and hee-haws.

The whole performance was appreciated by the audience of 200.

During the afternoon, Captain Camplin directed the band at its school rehearsal. This proved to be very informative and profitable to the members of the senior band.

Immaculata Girls Score Well -Photos Cause A Little Stir

By MAUREEN WILLIS

Strongly upholding Immaculata's name for basketball as the senior girls who are undefeated so far in their first eight games, Jean Schneider appears as high scorer in at least seven of the games.

Junior girls are doing their share of scoring, too, with Colleen Corcoran and Loretta Walls leading the Daws to many victories.

As usual, the senior boys are playing their swift action and fast-moving games and so far have been defeated three times, each time by Rutland.

Our junior boys are giving the sport all they have and are showing improvement.

This year the junior boys' coach is Willie Walls, while our coach for the junior girls is Sister Michael Christine. Father Francis Gorderis is training the senior girls and a new addition to the staff, Mario Ghislieri, is our coach for the senior boys.

Our peppy cheerleaders are out to cheer the Dons and Daws again to victory. Karen LaFreniere, Marcia Butler, Tracie Denegrie, Cathy Mildenberger and Mary Sullivan, the girls who compose and perform our cheers, are now being aided by a new group in the school — pep movement, the "T.N.T."

Student pictures and student cards have arrived and throughout the classrooms can be heard "Are you keeping your pictures, Joe?" While Joe answers "Are you serious? I'm getting retakes!"

Everyone is asking everyone else for his lovely portrait only to stick it in his wallet under scores of other photos. Student cards have not yet been issued since we are to decide at the next student council meeting the price to charge the students.

Recently our United Nations Club was notified by the Kelowna Branch of the United Nations Association that it would receive a United Nations flag for being an active club.

The Honor Society puts out Community Art Society Bulletins every month, and this month's will be out in about a week.

Bulletin boards are taking on a centennial flavor in every classroom, and centennial celebrations will soon occur at IHS. There have been rumors about the school that a few of the boys are growing beards but the girls feel that it will be 1968 by the time they complete the project.

Funeral Set For B.C. Driver

VICTORIA (CP) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for race car driver Billy Foster, 29, killed Friday in a practice run for Sunday's Motor Trend 500-mile stock car race.

Foster, the only Canadian to qualify and run in the Indianapolis 500 Memorial Day classic, died when his car struck a retaining wall at the Riverside, Calif., track.

He had completed for 18 months on the United States Auto Club's Championship Trail for Indianapolis-type cars and also ran the USAC stock car circuit.

Foster, who began racing cars on a dirt track here 12 years ago, was named the USAC rookie-of-the-year in its late model stock car division in 1965.

The $85,000 Riverside Race, which he had qualified for Thursday, was halted Sunday by a rainstorm after only 135 miles had been completed.

Stewards said it will be finished next Sunday.

Foster was the second British Columbia race driver to be killed in less than a year. Bob McLean of Vancouver died in a sports car race last March at Sebring, Fla., when his car slid off a hairpin turn and burst into flames.

NDP Hands In Its Demands For New Victoria Session

VICTORIA (CP) — B.C. New Democratic Party Leader Robert Strachan Monday issued the program his party "demands" from the government in the coming session of the legislature.

"The so-called Dynamic Society is grinding to a halt as highway and bridge construction projects are cut back and public works buildings throughout the province stand like giant skeletons and monuments to a government that has lost its drive," Mr. Strachan said in a statement issued following the NDP pre-session caucus Monday.

The nine items the NDP will seek government action on are:

1. Ensure old age pensioners receive the full benefit of the additional $30 available from Ottawa each month.
2. End the freeze on school construction and embark on a speeded up program to provide more education facilities from kindergartens to university post-graduate schools.
3. Introduce consumer protection legislation.
4. Embark immediately upon construction of new acute hospital beds all over the province, take over as a provincial responsibility the provision of chronic care beds, introduce modern preventative programs in the mental health, social welfare and corrections field.
5. Re-organize the Board of Industrial Relations so that "it can really operate" in preventing and conciliating disputes, introduce comprehensive amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act and abolish ex parte injunctions in management-labor matters.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — Profit takers cut sharply into gains made in the last two sessions in light morning trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

At 11 a.m., the industrial index slid 78 to 158.30.

Shell led the decline, falling 1/4 to 24. Calgary Power fell 1/4 to 22 1/2. Bank of Nova Scotia 1/2 to 67 1/2 and Massey - Ferguson 1/4 to 24 1/2.

Magna Electronics and Canadian Western Indus. advanced 3/8 each to 12 1/4 and 19 1/2.

Western oils tumbled 1.47 on index to 142.60. Dome and Great Plains retreated 1/2 each to 40 1/4 and 13 1/4. Hudson's Bay 3/4 to 26 1/2 and Banff 1/4 to 15 1/2.

Gold, which have dropped four points in the last two sessions, moved up 1.33 on index as Dome added 1/4 to 44 1/2 and Kerr Addison 1/4 to 12 1/2.

Cominco eased 1/4 to 34 1/2 in base metals.

On index, base metals were up .25 to 91.12. Volume by 11 a.m. was 696,000 shares compared with 726,000 at the same time Monday.

Cool Reception For Road Plans From City Group

A series of minor traffic and pedestrian movement changes suggested by the traffic control advisory committee received a cool reception from the city council Monday night.

Three suggestions, ranging from crosswalks to yield signs, were questioned by the council.

The traffic committee recommended two crosswalks, at Sutherland Avenue from the east side of Princess Street and a second crossing of Princess Street, on the north side of Sutherland Avenue.

The staff administration committee had no objections to the crosswalks, but asked why one was necessary across Princess on the north side of Sutherland, as there is a stop sign at that intersection.

The second recommendation called for the installation of a sidewalk on the south side of Buckland Avenue, from Chapman Place to Marshall Street.

The S.A.C. was against the project, as plans are being discussed to extend Ellis Street to Buckland Avenue and Marshall Street.

The council voted to approach the trustees of School District 23 (Kelowna) about paying a portion of the costs of constructing a section of the sidewalk. The council was told the school board owns much of the property in that area.

The third traffic committee recommendation called for replacing a stop sign at Edgewood Road and Highland Drive South with a yield sign. A motion to this effect by Ald. W. T. L. Roadhouse was unsuccessful when it failed to gain a second. A second motion, to retain the stop sign, was passed.

Meanwhile, the staff planning committee and the traffic advisory committee are working to complete separate reports on the city's traffic patterns. The senior city staff is preparing a pilot traffic survey study, due within two months, and the traffic committee is studying downtown traffic problems and is due to report in about two weeks.

COUNCIL AT WORK

Stores May Remain Open On 'Centennial Train Day'

Kelowna's stores will be allowed to remain open on the afternoon of Feb. 8, the Wednesday on which the confederate train will be in the city. The request was made by the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, which suggested many Valley people would be in Kelowna that day and having the stores open would benefit the city. Under the Municipal Act, the city must allow the stores to be open on Wednesday afternoons for one month, from Feb. 8, Chamber president K. F. Harding said shop operators were concerned only with the one day. The city's staff administration committee, in a report to the city council, said if the request were allowed other such requests might follow, resulting in "store hours chaos".

The council voted to pay the $1,430 legal expenses for city fireman Alfred Fletcher, recently acquitted of a charge of driving without due care and attention. Mr. Fletcher was driving a fire truck July 22 when it overturned, killing fireman Gary Drachenberg. In a similar case in Vancouver last year the Vancouver city council also paid the legal expenses.

Henderson's Cleaners Ltd., on behalf of the B.C. Drycleaners' Association, has offered to dry clean without charge any flags used by non-commercial organizations during 1967. The offer is a centennial project and applies to all flags used by organizations in the city and district. The offer was welcomed by the council, which said such a move by private enterprise was nice to see.

Referred for further study was a request from the United Hill Clinic that the south half of the lane between Leon Avenue and Harvey Avenue be closed. This and other traffic matters are being studied by the senior city staff and the

Snow, A Disappearing Act On Lower Level Highways

Snow is disappearing from lower level highways, according to a road report from the department of highways in Kelowna at 8 a.m. today.

The Rogers Pass was in good winter condition, with one inch of new snow. Winter tires or chains are required. From Banff to Calgary the road was bare. The temperature was -18 degrees.

The Allison Pass, on the Hope-Princeton Highway, had compact snow at upper levels and was bare at lower levels. The road was in good winter condition.

Highway 97 was bare and dry from Pentiction to Vernon. Side roads were mostly bare. The Kelowna-Heaverdell road was mostly bare, with some icy sections to Five Mile Hill and compact snow with icy sections at higher levels. Winter tires or chains are necessary.

At Lumby and Cherryville the road was bare and dry with some compact snow east of Cherryville. The Monash Highway had compact snow and one-half inch of new snow. Winter tires or chains required.

The Fraser Canyon was bare and good except for one to two inches of new snow at Lytton. The Kamloops section was bare and good. At Salmon Arm the road was mostly bare. A trace of snow was reported at Sicamous, with some slipper sections. Revelstoke had one-half inch of new snow and slippery sections.

WATER SERVICES IMPROVED

City work crews Monday completed the installation of an additional 12-inch water line or grit into the Glenmore area. The grit will provide for better water service and pressure into the area. These views show workmen filling in the line near completion of the project. Total cost to the city was $16,000.

The January 'Monster' Is Prowling The Area

By SUZANNE ZWARUN

The January Monster is on the prowl again. Unlike most monsters, the January Monster is not imaginary. Neither does it strike fear into the hearts of the bravest men.

The monster—the cold germ—is more subtle. But for the businessman whose head feels like a balloon, for the mother three cranky children under foot and for the school teacher facing a room full of running noses—the monster is extremely real, apparent and irritating.

The January cold epidemic is in full swing, teachers, employers and suffers all agree. But this year, the germ hasn't taken too high a toll.

A doctor at one of the medical clinics says he has seen fewer cold sufferers this year than he expected.

"I'm just guessing, but I'd say the situation is definitely better than some years," he said.

MUCH SNEEZING Most employers are resigned to the cold epidemic. One store manager said a couple of his employees have been off with colds. Another manager said none of his employees has missed time but there is plenty of sneezing going on.

In one office Monday four of five employees were suffering. The fifth employee didn't expect to stay healthy much longer.

School absences are running slightly above average, according to Frank Orme, superintendent of schools. Mr. Orme said he was "sitting here with a terrible cold myself."

Student absences, usually about five per cent of the district's school population, have risen to seven per cent. Mr. Orme said this was usual for this time of year.

"And a good many students go to school when they have a cold, so it is hard to tell how bad the epidemic is."

Flurries . . . Snow flurries this afternoon and Wednesday and light winds have been predicted by the weatherman.

However, he said temperatures should continue mild, with a low tonight of 30 and high Wednesday of 36.

Monday temperatures rose to a high of 39 and dropped to a low of 28 overnight. On the same day last year temperatures were considerably lower, with a high of 29 and low of 13.

Council Considers Centennial Flags

Colorful centennial decorations for downtown streets and several public buildings are being considered by the city council.

The flag and crest decorations, to cost $5,342, were suggested to the council by the Kelowna Centennial Celebrations Committee.

The suggestions will be considered by the city's staff administration committee later this week and will be discussed by the council again next Monday.

The flags, matching the standard city size and incorporating the centennial symbol, would be designed of material expected to last one year.

The committee decided on material with a minimum permanency and a low budget, since the flags would be good for one year only. The committee also decided to limit the decorations to flags on utility poles and flags and crests on civic buildings. The utility pole "most effective areas" and would supplement existing city flags and standards.

The committee also discussed merchant co-operation and though displays incorporating the centennial symbol would be most appropriate. Service stations were also expected to receive colorful centennial displays from the head offices, which would tie in with the overall decoration plan.

The flags would be three feet by six feet and would feature a white centennial symbol on a dark background.

The major portion of the $5,342 budget would be $3,071 for the decorations.

Ald. Thomas Angus liked the idea, but suggested the city have improved decorations every year. He indicated the SAC might consider recommending a higher expenditure this year for decorations which might be used in future years.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson agreed, saying the use of centennial symbols would "date" the decorations.

Speaking for the centennial committee Gordon Hartley said this factor was considered by his group and this was why a low budget, for inexpensive materials, was recommended.

The council indicated general approval of the idea, pending a SAC report to be considered next week.

Liquor Source Not Revealed City Youth Held In Custody

A 20-year-old Kelowna youth was remanded in custody for seven days when he failed to reveal the source of his liquor supply to the court today.

Bruce Wayne Margets, 2319 Pandosy St., pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to a charge of being a minor in possession of liquor. The prosecutor said the accused was stopped in a road block Dec. 31 and found in possession of a 12-ounce bottle of whiskey. He was said to have told the constable he obtained the liquor from "an unknown buddy."

The prosecutor said the Government Liquor Act provides that a minor must reveal the source of his liquor supply and if he refuses, he can be held in custody for one week and asked again and that this process can be repeated until "he is an old man with a long white beard."

"I am not satisfied we are getting the facts here," the magistrate said. Margets was remanded in custody "until I get the truth of the matter."

The youth, who said he was a newcomer to Kelowna, told the magistrate an involved story about being invited to a New Year's Eve party by his boss and playing pool with men he only knew casually and said he asked one of the players to buy him a bottle.

Ralph Richard Mikkelsen, Clinton, was fined $200 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention. The charge was laid as a result of an accident Dec. 24 near the Kelowna Airport on Highway 97. The prosecutor said the defendant travelled 233 feet on the shoulder, then crossed the highway travelling 88 feet, went over an embankment and travelled a further 80 feet. The prosecutor said the accused denied he was the driver. Damage was estimated at $800.

Mikkelsen told the magistrate something happened to the car to cause him to lose control, a mechanical failure. The magistrate reminded the accused he had pleaded guilty and the circumstances must be accepted. The fine was payable forthwith and the magistrate said he would recommend a three month suspension of his driver's licence.

Andre Hogue, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft over $50, a 1968 car, and was remanded for sentence pending other charges being laid. The prosecutor said the accused rented a car from a car-rental firm and failed to return it by Dec. 31. He was involved in an accident near Vernon Jan. 8 and arrested.

Allan Franklin Ward, 832 Bernard Ave., was remanded to a charge of impaired driving. Johannes Vandongen, Winfield, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $25. The offence took place Jan. 13 in Smithers where he was clocked doing 40 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone and was skidded into a ditch, the prosecutor said.

Fewer Hospital Babies '66 But Operation Was Still Busy

Fewer babies were born in 1966 than in 1965, say officials of the Kelowna General Hospital.

There were 48 births recorded at the hospital in December, making a total of 522 for the year. In 1965 there were 29 births in December and 535 for the 12-month period.

The number of patients admitted was up from the previous year and the number of outpatients treated was up also. In 1966 a total of 405 adults and children were admitted in December, making a total for the year of 4,948. Comparative figures show 392 admitted in December, 1965 and 5,153 for the year.

The number of outpatients treated in 1966 totalled 8,329, with 619 treated in December, up from the previous year when 7,616 were treated, with 557 in December.

The average days stay of adults and children in December was 10.6 and for the year 10.5. In December, 1965, patients stayed 11.4 days and an average of 10.1 for the year.

Patient days, for adults and children, totalled 4,195 for December and 51,304 for the year. In 1965, patient days totalled 4,411 for the month and 52,215 for the year.

Legion Executive Members Will Be Installed Tonight

Arthur Gordon will be installed tonight as president of the Royal Canadian Legion, branch 26, Kelowna.

Installing officers will be Harold Whitehouse. The installation will be a joint one with the women's auxiliary, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Legion building.

The installation is part of the annual meeting which will include the reading of committee reports.

H. D. Langham, legion member in charge of a physical fitness program, will present a plaque to the branch, containing the names of past presidents. Other officers to be installed are:

BLAZE CONTAINED

The Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade answered a general alarm Monday at 3:34 p.m., to 565 Oxford Ave., to a fire in the bathroom wall of a private residence. The fire was quickly extinguished and damage was confined to the bathroom wall and some smoke damage, a fireman said. The fire is believed to have started from a plumber's torch.

Brick Breaks Bank Window

A brick was thrown through a window of the Bank of Nova Scotia, 282 Bernard Ave., reported to police at 4:45 a.m. today. There was no sign of entry gained.

Police said the brick went through a 10 foot by five foot plate glass window, making a six-inch hole near the top of the window. Police suspect someone committed wilful damage. The broken window was discovered by a janitor.

Alvin Bradley, 227 Gore St., reported the theft of his car at 7:15 a.m. today, taken from his residence during the night. The car is a 1961 Meteor, of a pinkish color, with a 1966 licence plate number 423-347.

No injuries were reported from a panel truck-car collision Monday at 10:30 p.m., at Ellis Street and Harvey Avenue. Drivers were Charles Clark, Lakeshore Road and S. S. Maxwell, Rowellville Avenue. Damage was estimated at $150.

TEACHERS' FEBRUARY CONVENTION

Controversial Speakers Invited To Okanagan

One of Canada's most controversial ministers, Rev. Russell Horschburgh, will be among four guest speakers invited to attend the annual Okanagan Valley Teachers' Convention in Vernon Feb. 10 and 11.

Rev. Horschburgh was charged and found guilty of contributing to juvenile delinquency in 1964. The decision was appealed and is now before Supreme Court.

Other speakers include Rev. J. H. James, a United Church minister in Chatham, Ont., who is moving out into the area of social problems, with the endorsement of the department of sociology at Washington State University, and Stephen Lewis, the youngest member of the Ontario legislature.

The four guests will participate in a teach-in discussing the theme, Rendezvous With Youth.

The first speaker will present his views, followed by a half hour question and discussion period, during which all three remaining speakers will be on hand for comments and questions.

This routine will be repeated for the next three speakers.

Rev. Horschburgh was charged with seducing a United Church minister in Chatham, Ont., the whole problem of religious leaders moving out into the area of social problems, with the endorsement of the department of sociology at Washington State University, and Stephen Lewis, the youngest member of the Ontario legislature.

RUSSELL HORSBURGH

A. L. WELLS

Ordained in 1947, Rev. Horschburgh served pastorates in Sudbury, Hamilton, Waterloo and Chatham.

From the earliest days of his ministry, he took a special interest in alienated groups in society. For young delinquents and criminals, he established Youth Anonymous clubs which mirrored the aims and activities of Alcoholics Anonymous.

He said after years of church work with troubled youths and the "old guard" elements of society, he has strong views on the responsibilities of ministers to such groups as church and school.

Professor Wells is a member of one of England's most famous noble families. He was educated in British and French schools, and in British, French, Spanish, Italian and Canadian universities. During past years he has taught in French, Latin American, Canadian and U.S. universities.

Mr. Wells, at 27 years of age, is not only the youngest member of Ontario's legislature, but also one of its leading debaters and most knowledgeable authorities on welfare and education.

During the last session, in which he rose 350 times to speak, he was appointed to the Select Committee on Youth.

Dr. Olson is an American sociologist who has concentrated his studies on the behaviour of modern youth, their sub-culture, and the social and family forces that have such an impact on youth.

Despite The Omissions Train Is Worthwhile

The myth that Canadian history is dull, dull, dull is so pervasive it comes as a surprise when someone shows Canada was pioneered, and settled and built by real people. Yet this is what the Centennial Committee has managed to do with its six-coach Confederation special train, loaded with all sorts of paraphernalia from the ice age to the latest budget, which is now touring British Columbia and will reach Kelowna for February 7th and 8th.

On Vancouver Island and Vancouver citizens have lined up and waited for as long as four hours in the damp and cold to take a look. 100,000 of them had before last weekend. Even a casual inspection takes a good half hour. And thanks to the electronic devices the designers have used to recreate our past a good deal more than a casual inspection is deserved. Timbers creak, a lantern sways inside the mock hold of an immigration ship; flares burst over a simulated battlefield; explorers' routes are flashed across a map of the continent.

The $2,500,000 train will make 83 stops ranging from one to 10 days on its coast-to-coast trip. It will have travelled 15,500 miles by the time it winds up its journey in Ottawa at the year's end.

But some things are inexplicably lacking in the train. Its planners apparently found it more expedient to leave out some of our historical events rather than rewrite them—which is the prevalent trend today. The Battle of the Plains of Abraham is not mentioned. Evidently there was some sort of scuffle among the inhabitants in 1759 and then, suddenly, everything was all right due to Confederation.

Nor are the United Empire Loyalists given any specific token, not even in the caboose. The role played in this country by those ghostly people, who, rather than live under the American flag, came up to settle in what was to be Canada, is ignored.

If we are to believe the train's story, a great many of us have misleading propaganda on our library shelves. Every Canadian history book we have read refers to that 15-minute skirmish above Quebec and unanimously concede it to have been one of the decisive battles of the world as it settled for the foreseeable future the destiny of the North American continent.

The American Revolution was indispensable to a separate Canada on this continent. French Canadians stood with the U.E. Loyalists in fighting off subsequent intrusions from the south and the War of 1812 the final blow to the American schemes for supremacy over Canada were delivered at Queenston Heights and Lundy's Lane and Chrysler's Farm.

Still, despite the omissions obviously made so Quebec would not be offended, the train gives promise of being the first great hit of Centennial Year. The bells did not ring in Quebec on New Year's Eve; the Centennial play in Ottawa was a flop; some gloomy characters think American tourists will be cool to the multi-million dollar investment in Expo 67 in Montreal. The train however suggests that few things during the Centennial celebrations are likely to do as much to offset the great conspiracy of Canadian history teachers and textbook writers to smother our past in the wadding of woolly words.

Under-25 Drivers

In wheat-wealthy Saskatchewan, computer studies show that in the 12-month period ending last April 30, under-25 drivers, who make up 26.4 per cent of all drivers, accounted for 40.15 per cent of all accidents in the province.

As far as we know, no other province keeps a computerized record of traffic accidents. But we feel sure that if all of them did, the records would show the very young driver to be the most dangerous. Death, in the minds of children, is evidently something that only happens to the old and most of them therefore treat it with disdain.

Is there a cure that will help change these savage statistics for the better? Saskatchewan thinks so. Instead of curbing the driving privileges of the under-25 group (which mightn't be too bad an idea) it is taking action to improve the driving techniques of the very young. Beginning next year, driver training courses will be added to the curriculum of Grades 9 and 10.

If children are not only taught how to drive properly but are shown color photographs of the horrible and tragic consequences of irresponsible driving, the under-25 drivers of Saskatchewan may eventually have the best accident-free record of any age group—they should, they have the lightning reflexes of youth on their side.

Shinplasters

There was a time when the shin-plaster—the 25-cent paper note—served a definite purpose, particularly where mailing was concerned. Today, however, a doting aunt or uncle wouldn't dream of sticking one in a birthday or Christmas card, even if they were available. But that's creeping inflation for you.

Nevertheless, Finance Minister Sharp could do far worse than heed the suggestion of Frank Howard that the shinplaster be brought back in a fresh centennial year issue. Some of them might linger around and prove a bit of a nuisance commercially. Tens of thousands, however, would be snapped up and be retired from circulation as souvenirs of Expo and the centennial year itself. It might be a very profitable operation.

In addition, two generations have grown up since the last shinplaster was issued, and relatively few of those generations have even seen the curiosities. Moreover it is just possible some practical use for the paper money might develop, though offhand, for the moment, we really can't think of a single one.

It pays to be careful around a man who talks a lot, and a woman who has very little to say.

Common sense is a valuable asset, but it can't always be relied upon. For example, it would tell you the earth doesn't move.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Judgment Needed On This Occasion

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:
Four years ago, at 56, I had a partial hysterectomy (only uterus and tubes removed, not the ovaries).

Some time later my doctor started me on hormones and said I would have to take them as long as I live. Since then my doctor has left town, but I am still taking the pills. Should I quit?

Is it necessary to have Pap smear tests after a hysterectomy?—MRS. T.M.
As I wrote, hormone medication may be necessary only to help a woman over the trouble some symptoms of menopause. As the symptoms subside, the treatment can be stopped. If the symptoms recur, hormones can be resumed.

There is a tendency lately to try continuing hormone medication well past menopause because it makes some women feel generally better. To this, I can say only that we should exercise good judgment. If the patient clearly is more comfortable with the hormones, that is good reason for continuing them.

But I look with suspicion on the tendency to think that because hormones help some women, that all should have them. Health and the practice of medicine are intensely personal, individual matters, and each case should be judged on its own merits.

I do feel that when such hormones are taken for a prolonged time, it is usually wise to use them cyclically—that is, to omit them for a week or two each month.

As to Pap smears, they are not necessary after a total hysterectomy, but if some organs are left in, particularly the cervix or part of the uterus, then Pap tests should be continued.

However, even after a total hysterectomy the type of cells found in the vaginal wall may give your physician a clue as to the need for hormonal treatment.

Dear Dr. Molner: Much of the time I have a strong need to urinate, the force of flow is noticeably restricted and it takes more time to relieve the bladder pressure. What can be causing this?—S.G.

It is one of the classic signs of prostate enlargement, although occasionally other factors may be involved. I'd report this to your doctor at once.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend tells me she has used a tongue scraper for a long time but is unable to find one any more. I couldn't find one either.—M.L.
Reaching far back in memory, I can recall seeing people use a strip of flexible whalebone or some such thing to scrape the tongue, but it isn't often necessary and I haven't seen one in years. If scraping is really needed, a tooth brush or the edge of a spoon should serve the purpose.

WEATHER FORECAST

The weather in Canada from mid-January to mid-February should vary from above-normal temperatures in British Columbia and the Atlantic provinces, below normal in central areas and normal in most of Quebec and the western Prairies, according to the 30-day outlook by the United States weather bureau. Precipitation should vary from normal in eastern and western areas to below normal in central and northern points. Figures are given in inches of rain—one inch of rain equals 10 inches of snow. The outlook is not a specific forecast and changes may occur.

Personally Speaking

By VEN. D. S. CATCHPOLE, B.A., D.D.

"FLING OUT THE BUDGET" Let me hasten to say that the little dashes are not in lieu of bad language but indicate a slight hesitation, lest I should, from habit, have used the word "banter"; the significance of which remark will be completely lost on those not devoted to the missionary cause!

I regret very much that my present effort is due to our worthy premier's request that opposition members defeat Mr. Sharp's "mini-budget". I mean, what is the world coming to when one finance minister urges the political extinction of another finance minister?

I have always been told that there was honor among thieves, and in rash moments this is the term used to describe ministers of finance. Yet here is one clan brother exhorting another clan brother.

I can tell you one thing: I shall certainly keep a wary eye on my brother archdeacons. You just can't trust anybody today.

Now let me inform the good premier that I do not agree with him and also that I am speaking as an ex-minister of finance, an office which I held for 12 years, and in a corporation which handled about as many thousands in a whole year as he handles millions per diem.

I may add that there were those who had a yen to throw out not merely my budget but me as well and perhaps I should not blame them because, after all, I was set up to be a fisherman of souls rather than someone who mucks about with filthy lucre.

However, with the brashness which is peculiar to amateurs, I would point out to the premier that the one per cent increase in the subtly hidden sales tax will actually do no one much harm. Take the Rolls-Royce which I am about to buy (well I think it is a Rolls-Royce even if the name on it is different); this will cost me an additional $30.

Now, if I can afford to buy a Rolls (which, of course, I cannot but will anyway as a last fling) I can afford to pay the additional $30. If the money goes to a good cause (namely an increase of my Canada Pension when and if I get it) I should be willing to pay that amount; and I am a little ashamed that the B.C. premier (who can hardly be considered as being poverty-stricken) should begrudge such a payment to me and other down-and-outers.

Frankly I don't understand the rest of the mini-budget except that I believe that what-ever is contributed by the high-salaried people will be used to pay for those things for which the Opposition Members (whom the premier is courting) have been screaming for ages.

As I have said before I am a Sharp man. I like the guy and his enormous courage in that he introduced his little budget (the other term reminds me of a revolting type of English car, or of fringe skirts) at the very time that the Kelowna City Council was raising the price of water by 50 per cent. Mr. Bennett ought to be very thankful that the water used in Kelowna is not the water which is used to dilute scotch whisky because then his revenue would drop very considerably.

After all, the thirsty toper can stand only so much "aqua" at a time and it has to be "pura", not this revolting stuff which we have to drink and which has slime in it. And so I am sending out a special appeal to all Opposition Members (and our friend down in Oliver had better listen if he wants my vote next time) to vote in favor of the Sharp budget; and long may we have a minister of finance as pointed as he is in dealing with rich men who can well afford to pay out money to support retired clergymen and keep them from destitution.

One of these days we are going to find our premier supporting his brother in Southern Rhodesia against that scion of all virtues, Mr. Harold Wilson, whom all Britons love so deeply. This is what I am beginning to expect from the premier of British Columbia. Impossible as it may seem, we may find him cutting the sub-soll from beneath the feet of that paragon of republican virtues, our redoubtable Lester B. Pearson. What could be more subversive than this? Well, I suppose this extraordinary move of the premier is all part of that strange trend of behaviour which is so evident today—four letter words—Beale haircuts—fringe skirts—stout women in skin tight something or others (which I add beggar description)—"avant garde" this and that; and yet I have always thought that our premier belonged to my generation (he is my age); but it only goes to show that you just never can tell.

Anyhow, don't be led around by the nose by the premier. He is not taking over B.C. power now.

He is trying to take over federal power which is quite another kettle of fish—I hope!

Blind Returning To Kano Centre

KANO, Nigeria (AP)—Massacres have killed some and frightened away others. Their numbers are diminished. But still they come, groping, haltingly, some led by children in worn robes and bare feet. Some are children themselves.

They are the blind or nearly blind. Daily they line up for treatment at the Kano eye hospital of the Sudan Interior Mission outside the walls of this ancient Moslem trade city. Established in 1943, it was the first hospital exclusively treating eyes in the western Sudan.

Just immediately south of the Sahara desert, a land where blindness is a way of life. About 10 per cent of the population in the area from Mali to the northern Cameroon is blind or nearly blind. In northern Nigeria alone an estimated 3,000,000 persons have lost some sight, nearly 1,600,000 who have lost it permanently.

A few months ago, about 500 persons daily waited for treatment at the clinic. The 130 beds in the wards were filled with others awaiting or recovering from surgery that restored the sight of many.

In late September, northerners turned on eastern tribes living in the north, killing thousands throughout the region. Hundreds died in Kano.

The wards now are empty. Most of the Nigerian nurses and orderlies have fled to the east. The American surgeon returned home. The hospital staff hopes for a replacement by the end of this month.

About 100 patients now appear daily at the clinic. Many have walked miles—in some cases, days—from the bush country. Many are children. "After they see that their native doctors can do nothing," said Delta Bond, 48, of Muscatine, Iowa, a nurse in Kano since 1944, "parents bring them here as a last resort."

"Often they come too late. It makes you sick."

Churches throughout the world support the hospital, which now charges for the operation and other services it once provided free. Those who can't pay still get treatment.

CANADA'S STORY

Britain Foresaw A Free Canada

By BOB BOWMAN

It might be said that the Liberal Party came into power in 1848 for the first time as the result of an election on Jan. 24, 1848. Actually it was the Reform party, under Robert Baldwin and Louis-Philippe, that won the election, and it gradually became the Grit Party, and then the Liberals.

The Reform party obtained responsible government for pre-Confederation Canada the following year and became known as the Great Administration. A new principle had been enunciated by the British government: "It is neither possible nor desirable to carry on the government of any of the British provinces in North America in opposition to the opinions of its inhabitants."

Nova Scotia was the first British North American colony to obtain responsible government, in 1848, largely as the result of a campaign by Joseph Howe, who then was a member of the Nova Scotia legislature.

British Colonial Secretary Lord John Russell had taken a stand that while Canada would probably become an independent nation some day, until that happened London must have the final word in Canadian affairs. The Queen ruled Canada as well as Britain, and as the Queen's advisers were in London, then the final authority must be there.

Joseph Howe took issue with Lord Russell in four brilliantly written letters, asking why a Nova Scotian would be less wise than an Englishman in trying to save his country from ruin?

His letters were so convincing that Lord Russell was granted responsible government, with the British government announcing the policy quoted above.

OTHER EVENTS ON JANUARY 24:

- 1885 C.P.R. telegraph completed coast to coast.
- 1898 Grand Trunk Railway united with Canadian and Hamilton Railway.
- 1903 Britain and U.S.A. referred Alaska boundary dispute to international commission.
- 1923 George H. Murray resigned as premier of Nova Scotia after being in office for 27 years.
- 1946 Canada was included in newly established Atomic Energy Commission.

FESER'S PHRASES

By TERRY FESER

Several slogans have been devised in an effort to promote minor hockey across Canada. Unquestionably, minor hockey requires more than a few slogans or catchy phrases to make the efforts of a few worthwhile.

Perhaps like our friend 'Ralph', you do not want to be bothered by the early rising element. By the early rising element I mean the young fellows who leave home early enough to make it to the arena by 6 a.m.

Possibly, like Ralph, you do show up at the arena, maybe not to help, but you do show up. Excellent, keep arriving early in the morning.

Only good, little harm, can come of your helping youngsters learn to skate, learn to become sportsmen and be better adults for the time you took to help.

Rising early in the morning does not necessarily have to be your contribution to minor hockey. Any person genuinely interested in helping can always be utilized to the best of his, yes, sports fans, even HER ability.

Timekeepers, league statisticians, team managers or even just being a fan, can help promote minor hockey.

Many of the young people involved in minor hockey in this area require all the help you as an individual can give them, even being a 'Ralph' and simply crossing the street will give many a youngster a boost in the morale department.

In any event, maybe he will never become a super star in the NHL, but then again he might, he will be a better citizen and contribute something to his community.

Not all the members of the 'chain' will remain in hockey, some may not even remember their hockey days, but all will remember who kept them on the straight and narrow.

Others may stay in hockey and aspire to the heights of the professional. With the opening of the new NHL division, more and more hockey players will be required to fill the ranks. Why not make the Okanagan the 'hockey hot bed'.

Really sound far-fetched to you, maybe it is and maybe I am just a dreamer, but dreams have been known to come true.

However your feelings tend to run on the subject of hockey, pro or con, there is always someone, maybe in your immediate family who is all for minor hockey. Why not give said person a chance to change your mind.

Occasionally, you as the parent of an aspiring Gordie Howe, may be called upon to give financial aid to the minor hockey program. According to the Minor Hockey Branch of the CAHA (Canadian Amateur Hockey Association) $2,250,000 is spent in Canada for minor hockey. Spent by the parents of the boys.

Canadian Amateur Hockey Association alone spends $28,000 to promote minor hockey in Canada. The British Columbia branch spends $506,959 helping the 'chain'.

Knowledge of the workings of the minor hockey machine may help you to make up your mind about the benefits to be derived from minor hockey, so why not take an interest as to what your son or sons are doing.

Even a short term as a fan may help you become more interested in helping minor hockey.

Yes, sports fans, why not take an interest in what happens to your son when he leaves the house to attend the skating sessions held at the local ice palace. Remember . . .

Griffiths Ends Archer Series Italy's Benvenuti May Be Next

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Emile Griffith apparently has ended his series with Joey Archer on a second straight close decision and now it may be the turn of Italy's Nino Benvenuti.

After the 28-year-old Griffith had scraped out his narrow but unanimous 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden Monday night, matchmaker Teddy Brenner said that Benvenuti, the European 160-pound champion, had agreed to terms for a March 22 title fight at the Garden.

"If the price is right, Emile will be ready," said Gil Clancy, Griffith's trainer and co-manager.

As in the first Griffith-Archer fight last July 13, there were no knockdowns. Griffith came close to scoring one in the second round when he clipped Archer with a short right to the jaw and the challenger's right knee clipped to the canvas. Referee Art Mercante didn't count, thus ruling it was not a knockdown.

INFLECTS BRUISE
It was in that same second round that Archer suffered a deep, purplish bruise under his right eye. Good corner work kept it from breaking open.

Nicklaus Birdies to Victory To Capture Crosby's Coins

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, flashing home on a string of birdies while Arnold Palmer collapsed, has added the Bing Crosby golf tournament championship to his ever-growing list of titles.

"I've wanted to win this tournament ever since I turned pro, and everything I did happened to come out right this time," Nicklaus said. He now heads for the Los Angeles Open starting Thursday.

With five birdies on the final seven holes despite a cold, biting wind over the tough Pebble Beach course, Nicklaus scored a 31 over the last nine holes. He passed Palmer and Bill Casper and won with a 72-hole score of 284, four under par, on a final-round 68.

All three battled the final day head and head. Three times they were in a three-way tie for the lead and the situation changed on 14 of the 18 holes. Palmer bombed himself out with two shots out of bounds and a 9 on No. 14.

TAKES LEAD
First Casper led, then Palmer, and finally on the 13th hole Nicklaus dropped the second of three straight birdies to go into a lead he kept to win the $104,500 tournament. Casper collected $9,600 for 74-289 and Palmer $6,000 for 75-291.

The final round in the storm-delayed Crosby Tournament matched the three men who led the 1966 money lists—U.S. Open champion Casper at $121,944; Nicklaus at $111,41 and Palmer at $110,467.

... five in last seven

Casper held a stroke lead at the start. At the end of nine holes he had a 37. Palmer had a 36 to tie him and Nicklaus stood just one stroke back with a 37.

Mike Souchak, who didn't qualify for individual pro competition in the final round because of a 228, one above the cut-off, collected $2,700 by teaming with his brother Frank for a 233 for the season, but a 29-under-par 259.

Deadlocked at 293 and collecting $3,493 each for fourth were Bob Rosburg and Jack Burke Jr., with 74s, and Bill Parker with 76.

Joe Carr, who led the first round with a 68, one stroke ahead of Nicklaus finished with an 80-307 and no money.

George Knudson of Toronto collected $1,040 by finishing 20th with 296. His final-round score was 73. Bill Eznicki, former National Hockey League player, shot a 75 for a 302 total.

No One Wins Says Referee

PARIS (AP) — World welterweight champion Curtis Cokes thought he won. The French crowd thought Francois Pavilla won. The referee didn't think either of them did.

Since the referee's opinion was the one that counted, the 10-round non-title fight between the 29-year-old champion from Dallas, Tex., and Pavilla, the French titleholder, Monday night was declared a draw.

Cokes kept Pavilla off balance throughout the fight and staggered him with a hard right at the start of the eighth round. But he couldn't put him down. Pavilla pressed forward continually during the bout, throwing hard punches to the body.

Skater Wants Split On Marking System

TORONTO (CP) — Don Jackson, men's singles world champion in 1962, says scoring in figure skating is antiquated and suggests the rules should be changed.

Jackson, who now earns about $40,000 a year as a star of the Ice Follies, said in an interview Monday that 60-40 break in favor of school figures is out of line. He would like to see the points evenly divided 50-50.

"Free skating, which is the most dramatic part of the game, has improved so much that it has passed some of the judges by," Jackson said.

"The school figures are important, but there is no excitement to them."

Jackson found support in his bid for a scoring revision from Kevin Lethbridge, Canadian dance champion with Carol Forest in 1965-66, and Max Gold, public relations director for the Canadian Figure Skating Association.

Both are here trying to stimulate interest in the Canadian championships which open Wednesday.

"It's all up to the International Skating Union and we're trying to have it changed," Lethbridge said.

Meanwhile, many titles are up for grabs in the competition which continues here through Sunday.

Valerie Jones of Toronto and Karen Magnusen of Vancouver are among the favorites in the women's singles, won last year by Petra Burke of Toronto, now a professional.

But Jackson said that Linda

Carbonetto, 16-year-old daughter of a Canadian diplomatic official could upset the works.

Miss Carbonetto took lessons from Jackson in San Francisco last year while he was training for the ice show.

While Miss Jones and Miss Magnusen are favored for the singles title, the spectators will be keeping a watchful eye on Miss Carbonetto and Roberto Laurent of Toronto.

Donald Knight of Toronto will defend his Canadian men's singles title against Jay Humphrey, 17, of Vancouver and veteran Dr. Charles Snelling of Welland, Ont.

Snelling won five successive Canadian titles from 1954 to 1958 and got back into active competition again in 1964 to win the championship.

Last year at the world championships in Davos, Switzerland, he finished 10th. Knight was seventh and Humphrey 13th.

Novice events will begin the championships Wednesday and Thursday. Compulsory figures in senior pairs and dance will take place Friday night, followed by junior men's free skating.

Compulsory figures for seniors are scheduled Friday and Saturday morning with free skating Sunday afternoon.

More than 150 skaters are entered and Canada's national team for the world championships in Vienna Feb. 28-March 5 will be named Sunday.

Eleven senior competitors will make the trip.

Stan The Man Takes Over Cards Ready To Bid For '67 Pennant

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Muskie, who is the third general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals in four years, feels the National League club is in good shape for the 1967 baseball campaign.

The 46-year-old Musial, who played 22 years with the Cardinals, became general manager Monday succeeding Robert Howsam, who resigned Sunday to accept a similar post with the Cincinnati Reds.

Howsam replaced Bing Devine as general manager during the 1964 season.

"We have a good, well-balanced ball club," Musial said after his selection was announced. "We plan no major player changes or trades at this time," he added.

With only 15 players on the 40-man roster signed, Musial's first job will be to get the players to agree to 1967 terms. Among those still to be signed is Roger Maris, who hit 61 homers for the New York Yankees.

Braves Move Still Reviewed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A second refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to review Wisconsin's Braves case left Milwaukee County with thoughts today of a replacement team and whether to pursue a federal court suit against professional baseball.

The court, apparently by a 8 to 0 vote, stuck by its Dec. 12 decision, refusing Monday to hear the state's appeal of a State Supreme Court ruling that Wisconsin is powerless to enforce its antitrust laws against the National League and its teams, including the Braves.

County officials said they will study whether to press an antitrust suit which had been filed in U.S. District Court as the Braves franchise was being moved to Atlanta.

Pavilla pressed forward continually during the bout, throwing hard punches to the body.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

Exclusive Healing Substance Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids.

If you want satisfactory relief from "itching piles"—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance that promptly relieves the burning, itching and pain—actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In case after case "very striking improvement" was noted, even among cases of long standing. And this improvement was maintained over a period of months!

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulate growth of new tissue. Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation "H". Ask for it at all drug stores—satisfaction or money refunded.

Junior Hospital Auxiliary Elects Officers For 1967

At the annual meeting of the Kelowna Junior Hospital Auxiliary held last week the new executive was installed by Mrs. H. R. Birch-Jones. Mrs. Birch-Jones, who would have been president of the auxiliary for the coming year is leaving shortly to take up residence in Vancouver where her husband has been transferred.

Elected as president was Mrs. E. F. Lawrence. Mrs. Harold Pettman is past president; Mrs. F. J. Simard, first vice-president; Mrs. J. R. Warner, second vice-president; Mrs. C. V. Spellman, secretary; Mrs. R. B. McKenzie, treasurer; Mrs. W. S. Cave, social convener; Mrs. C. D. Newby, buying convener; Mrs. K. C. Taitow, volunteer service representative.

The president's report showed a very active and successful year for the auxiliary. In 1966 there were three life members, 22 associate members and 64 active members.

During the year the auxiliary enjoyed two informative guest speakers, Dr. Dorrance Bowers and Dr. E. L. Burran. The annual Benefit Dance held in February had as its theme "A Night in the Caribbean" and was very successful. The second Fashion Show put on by the auxiliary at the Kelowna Community Theatre.

The annual Blossom Time Fair was held on the hospital grounds for the last time in the spring. This year the hospital expansion necessitates a move to Strathcona Park, and it is the sincere wish of the auxiliary that this popular annual family event will continue to foster good relations between the Kelowna General Hospital and the public, and will remain a successful means of raising money for the hospital.

During the past year the auxiliary has not purchased any equipment for the hospital, however the members have approved the purchase of a Cardiac Control Unit and resuscitation cart for the Intensive Care Unit, and the money is available for these as soon as they have been chosen.

The Kelowna Junior Hospital Auxiliary sponsors the Volunteer Services at the hospital, and is fortunate in having Mrs. L. N. Leathley as director of these services. Although the auxiliary is the sponsor it is not necessary to be a member to become a volunteer and anyone interested should contact Mrs. Leathley.

Last spring the Kelowna auxiliary was host to the Okanagan Regional Hospital Auxiliaries Conference, a four-day affair, the chairmanship of Mrs. Louis Rampone and Mrs. H. R. Birch-Jones a most interesting day was planned for more than 100 attending delegates.

At the close of the meeting the auxiliary expressed their thanks to the local merchants, the news media and the general public without whose support the auxiliary's efforts would be in vain.

A BIG BABY

TORONTO (CP)—A 15-pound, six-ounce baby girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bell of suburban Scarborough, was born in Scarborough General Hospital Friday night.

Both mother and baby are reported doing fine. The baby, whose father says she likely will be named Jennifer Louise, is the biggest baby ever born at Scarborough General.

Mr. Bell is more than six feet tall and weighs more than 200 pounds. His wife, 5 foot, 9 inches, normally weighs around 200 pounds.

The Bells have four other children. The smallest at birth was 9½ pounds and the heaviest 12 pounds, 11 ounces.

The 15½ lb. baby is reported to have been a 24-year-old child born in Turkey five years ago.

SENT BY AIR

History's first air freight shipment was in 990 A.D. when 600 carrier pigeons, loaded with cheques, were flown from Baghdad, Syria, to Cairo.

Westbank Finds 25 Pioneers Eligible For Medallions

WESTBANK — Pioneers in Westbank will be honored at a banquet to be given May 27, when Jon McKinnon, regional director for B.C.'s Recreation Commission, will present pioneer medallions. The dinner, held under the auspices of Westbank Centennial Committee will be sponsored by the Westbank Chamber of Commerce.

To be eligible for the 1967 pioneer medallions, a pioneer must have been born in Canada, or have been a resident of Canada prior to Jan. 1, 1892. These rules being set by the Canadian Confederation Centennial Committee. Surprisingly enough, 25 such pioneers have been found in the Westbank area, and will be duly honored with the presentation of medallions. This medallion, complete with ribbon and clasp, depicts, on its obverse side, the first explorer, Alexander MacKenzie—the first white man to travel overland from Canada—looking over the Pacific Ocean at Bella Coola, on his reaching that point July 22, 1793. The reverse side bears the words, "British Columbia Honors Canadian Pioneers, 1900, 1967."

Several Centennial celebrations have been tentatively suggested for Westbank, including a "Barkerville" or "gay nineties" night with cabaret and Centennial theme; a display at Westbank's Fall Fair, and an exhibit, both with a Centennial theme.

Official opening of the Aquatic Park, improvements to which form Westbank's Centennial project, has been set for July 1, and it is understood that Westbank Yacht Club will end the day with a Centennial Ball aboard M.S. "Pendozi".

Mr. and Mrs. Max De Puyffter have received word that Mr. De Puyffter's sister, Alice, Mrs. Albert Ernst, passed away Sunday night in Lucerne, Switzerland. A former Kelownian Mrs. Ernst worked for the Kelowna branch of the Bank of Montreal and the Okanagan Packers prior to her return to Switzerland in 1930, and since that time she has returned to Kelowna several times to visit her brother and other friends in the Valley.

Mrs. D. C. McRae, who has been enjoying a holiday visiting her sons, Rev. McRae in Saskatoon and William McRae in Regina and their families, is presently visiting her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Corbett in Winnipeg. She plans to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Corbett on a holiday trip to Texas before returning home to Kelowna.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hurley with Maureen and Michael from Winter Harbour, V.I., are spending a few days with Mrs. Hurley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McKenzie this week.

Karen Grant, Sandy Morrie, Ann Egerton, Bibiana Rehlinger and Patty Greenwood were welcomed as fulfilled Brownies when the First Glenmore Brownie Pack held their annual last Wednesday afternoon. Grey Owl Mrs. Cynthia Russell officiated at the ceremony. Pauline Pearson greeted the mothers and Penny Switly and Janet Pascoe served the tea and cookies.

The Brownies said goodbye with regret to Mrs. J. P. Switly their Tawny Owl for the past three years and presented her with a Brownie tea cup and saucer and their good wishes.

Also in this connection, Peachland's present project of beard-growing from New Year's to their April 1 Centennial celebration, prompts a special invitation to these "Bearded Fathers of Confederation."

Doors will open at 6 o'clock, with dinner to follow at 7 p.m.; then a lively, enjoyable floor show and later in the evening, dancing to Johnny Deschner's music. Committee members already have arrangements for this special evening well under way—and a whisper of warning here—tickets will be limited! They are available now from any member of Westside Centennial Committee, and it is planned to make them available both in Peachland and Kelowna.

Centennial committee chairman Felix Menu presided at the planning meeting, when other business included appointment of two sub-committees; one for building, headed by Bev. Trump, and it is expected that construction of the project soon will get underway. The second sub-committee will concentrate on fund raising, and is the hands of Bill Darroch. Mr. and Mrs. Felix Menu headed the meeting, held in their home.

Italian Fashions Wind Up With New Nude Look

ROME (AP) — Italian high fashion showings for spring and summer wound up today with a sensational nude look.

Titti Brugnoli showed a line short, swinging and sporty. Even city suits had the nude look. The jackets stripped off to reveal bare midriff blouses. Plunging armholes and side-slit skirts on dresses let in plenty of air and showed lots of bosom.

A short pink raincoat, like a rajah's tunic, went over flesh bare from the waist up. Modesty was saved with shiny black vinyl bermudas.

Centennial Menu Of Dishes From Every Part Of Canada

By JEAN SZARP
CP Women's Editor

A centennial project to relish is a dinner party of dishes representing every part of Canada.

A suggested menu: British Columbia smoked salmon, tourtiere from Quebec, a wild rice casserole from the Prairies, Maritime fiddleheads, sourdough a la Northwest Territories and Ontario butternut spice cake.

All the recipes are in The Laura Secord Canadian Cook Book collected and edited by the Canadian Home Economics Association as a Centennial project. Some of the proceeds will go to the association's scholarship fund.

Editor Sally Henry says she knew Canada had a cuisine but didn't know what it comprised until recipes began coming in from the association's 1,019 members. Each was asked for a recipe for a food specialty of her part of the country and for some anecdote or historical background on it.

Miss Henry says the recipes sent most often and from most parts of the country were for oatmeal bread, omelette and lemon bread. She says she suspects lemon bread and butter tarts may have been developed in Canada.

Some recipes have had to be modernized, such as a chicken pot pie originally designed for a bake-kettle and open fire.

GASPE TOURTIERE

For Gaspé tourtière, two-pie size, cut in 4 to 6 pieces a 4- to 5-pound boiling fowl. In a saucepan combine the chicken with: 1 onion stuck with 1 whole clove, 1 branch celery leaves, 1 carrot sliced, 1 sprig parsley, 1 small bay leaf, pinch of thyme, pinch of marjoram, 1 tablespoon salt. Add cold water until chicken is just covered. Cover pan and cook over low heat until chicken is tender. Cool in broth.

Meanwhile, lightly brown in a lightly greased frying pan 2 pounds ground lean pork. Stir in enough broth from chicken just to cover meat. Cover and cook over low heat for 2 hours.

Remove chicken from bones and chop. Mix well with pork and taste for seasoning. Allow to cool.

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Prepare enough pastry for two 2-crust pies. Divide into four equal portions and roll out each separately. Use two portions to line two deep 9-inch pie plates.

Divide cooled meat mixture between pie plates. Cover with top crusts. Flute and seal edges and slash top crusts.

Bake in 450-degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 and bake for 30 to 40 minutes longer.

Makes 6 to 7 servings per pie.

FIDDLEHEADS

Fiddleheads are the edible frond of the ostrich fern. They now are marketed in canned and frozen form. The book describes them as resembling a combination of asparagus and broccoli. They may be served hot with butter or sauce or cooked, chilled and marinated for salads.

RICE CASSEROLE

For the wild rice and mushroom casserole, grease a 1½-quart casserole. Wash 1 cup wild rice thoroughly and soak for 30 minutes. Drain.

In the top of a double boiler combine the wild rice with ¼ teaspoon thyme, ¼ teaspoon basil leaves, ½ teaspoon salt. Mix to dissolve and add 3 cups boiling water and 3 beef bouillon cubes. Cover and cook over boiling water for 45 minutes or until tender, stirring occasionally.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

In a frying pan melt ¼ cup butter. Add 1-3 cup finely chopped onion and cook until transparent. Push to one side of pan, add more butter (about ¼ cup) and lightly brown ¾ pound sliced fresh mushrooms.

Combine rice and a little of remaining liquid with sautéed onions and mushrooms. Season to taste and place in casserole. Dot with butter and bake in 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve from casserole. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SOURDOUGH

Sourdough, now associated with the gold rush and the Yukon, was once among standard supplies for settlers. The book includes a modernized recipe.

In a large bowl, dissolve 1 teaspoon granulated sugar in ½ cup lukewarm water. Over this sprinkle 1 envelope active dry yeast. Let stand for 10 minutes then stir briskly with a fork.

Stir in 3 cups lukewarm water, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 cups all-purpose flour. Cover, let stand at room temperature for three days, stirring down batter daily.

On the third day, scald 1 cup milk. Stir in ¼ cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Blend in 3 cups yeast mixture.

(To remainder add 2 cups lukewarm water and 2 cups all-purpose flour. Let stand at room temperature one day then pour into glass jar, seal and refrigerate. Use for next batch of bread.)

Beat in 3 cups all-purpose flour. Add another ¾ to 4 cups all-purpose flour. Work in last of flour with a rotating motion of the hand.

Turn dough out on a lightly-floured surface and knead 8 to 10 minutes. Shape into a smooth ball and place in a greased bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1½ hours).

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead ntil smooth. Divide in three. Roll out each portion and shape into loaves. Place in greased 8½ by 4½ loaf pans. Grease tops and let rise a gain until doubled. (about 45 minutes).

Bake in preheated 400 oven for 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 3 loaves.

SPICE CAKE

A spice cake was made in Ontario's Bay of Quinte area with butternuts from nearby trees. Now pecans or walnuts may be substituted.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease generously a 9-inch tube pan, plain or fluted. Sprinkle bottom and halfway up sides of pan evenly with ½ cup finely chopped butternuts.

Sift together 2 cups pastry (soft wheat) flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon allspice, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon salt.

Cream 2-3 cup butter. Blend in, beating until light and fluffy, 1-1½ cups lightly-packed brown sugar. Beat in 2 eggs. Stir dry ingredients into creamed mixture alternately with 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk. Make 3 dry and 2 liquid additions, combining lightly after each.

Blend in ½ cup finely chopped butternuts. Turn gently into prepared pan.

Bake in 350-degree oven for about 45 to 50 minutes, or until cake springs back when lightly touched. Cool in pan for 10 minutes. Turn out on cake rack and cool completely. Leave upside down and sprinkle sifted icing sugar over cake before serving.

Bright Future Of Airline Means Jobs

A bright future for CPA employees in the Vancouver area has been forecast by President J. C. Gilmer.

He predicted recently that the airline's current expansion program will result in the present employment total in this area of 2,260 doubling to over 4,000 within the next five to seven years.

The present maintenance staff of just over 700 is expected to grow to 1,000 or more within the next five years.

In addition, employment would increase in virtually every other department, including flight operations, flight kitchen, accounting, purchasing and stores, sales and traffic and administrative sections.

Similarly, CPA's system-wide employment total of just over 3,200 likely will double to more than 6,000 by 1972 or 1973.

JOBS INCREASE

The increase in jobs will be a continuation of the present trend, in which CPA employment, system-wide, has grown at the rate of 10 per cent per annum during the past two years.

Mr. Gilmer said the growing number of jobs will come about through the tremendous growth of air travel generally, expansion of CPA's routes and flight frequencies and new aircraft on order or contemplated.

CPA was the first airline in Canada to move into the supersonic era when it contracted, three years ago, for three delivery positions on the delivery list for the proposed United States supersonic transport (SST). These 2,000 mph aircraft are expected to be in service around the mid-1970's.

You never call it 'Frisco. Its citizens will devoutly assure you that the fog that sometimes rolls in under Golden Gate Bridge "will burn off by noon." It's a dedicated sports town (it would have to be with names like Cow Palace and Candlestick Park).

Its attractions range from one of the world's outstanding zoos, a huge ocean-side park and planetarium to the far-out world of the beatnik. There's avant garde entertainment at places with intriguing names like "The Hungry i" . . . and night life for all tastes ranging from jazz joints of North Beach to the Opera House.

It's San Francisco — one of the few North American cities accepted as having its own fascinating character. That character runs the gamut from sophistication to sex (the topless kick started there).

They've written songs and made movies about it. Its colorful history permeates its modern existence with places like the famous Nob Hill, with its professional football team called the 49'ers, with its fabulous Chinatown, largest in the world outside China itself.

The hills are symbolized by the world-famous cable cars. Its commerce throbs in financial Montgomery Street. Its downtown heart is Union Square, a green, palm-treed square block wisely retained 'midst towering buildings, cleverly concealing several levels of underground parking.

CITY OF BRIDGES

Perched on the northern tip of a long peninsula, San Francisco's visual image is bridges — the great Golden Gate Bridge spanning the entrance to the huge bay bearing the same name of the city, and the long San Francisco Bay Bridge linking the city with Oakland and Berkeley.

For Canadian vacationers flying south on CPA's new two-hour non-stop daily jet flight, San Francisco offers pleasant climate, countless tourist attractions for all ages and all tastes. It's the jumping off point for trips to other parts of California (Disneyland included) to the excitement of Reno and Las Vegas or to the warm, dry sun of Arizona.

Important Connections

Connections, they say, are important in business.

And that is just what CPA offers businessmen using the new San Francisco - Vancouver service.

Arriving in Vancouver at 12:50 p.m., travellers can make connections with CPA's transcontinental flight in 40 minutes. They can connect conveniently with the airline's Polar flight to Europe or to the non-stop flight to Tokyo and Hong Kong, or onto domestic flights to many parts of British Columbia.

Smart Uniforms In New Tartan

CPA personnel in smart new uniforms with Canada's maple leaf tartan design will check in Vancouver-bound passengers at San Francisco Airport.

While the passenger-handling staff will be CPA people, operational ground handling of its DC-8 jets will be carried out under an arrangement with American Airlines, one of the major U.S. carriers.

ECONOMIC TIES

For businessmen, the historic economic ties will be stimulated and strengthened by an increasing number of face-to-face dealings in commerce. Canadian banks operating branches in San Francisco; both the federal and B.C. governments have full-time tourist and trade offices there; B.C.'s forest industry has long-standing business connections with California and many of that state's newspapers are produced on newsprint from this province. California fruits and vegetables are commonplace on the shelves of B.C. food markets, often packed in containers made from B.C. pulp.

Even in athletics, close relationships exist. San Francisco's professional hockey team (run by a Vancouverite) battles the Vancouver Canucks; the University of California English rugby fifteen from Berkeley plays an annual home and home series with UBC. And many a Vancouver baseball fan tends to pull for the major league team geographically closest to him — San Francisco's Giants.

Pre-Inaugural Flight

Pickersgill To Lead VIP Group To San Francisco

CPA Forges Ahead As Official Flag Carrier For Canada

Assured of its role in international aviation, Canadian Pacific Airlines is forging ahead into the second year of a five-year program of growth.

The Vancouver-based airline takes its first big Centennial year step with commencement of its new Vancouver-San Francisco service January 30. The daily non-stop flight will be CPA's first route into the continental United States.

It is some 20 months since Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill outlined Canada's international aviation policy which designated CPA as an officially-recognized flag carrier in the areas of the world it serves. The policy confirmed CPA as the chosen instrument in the areas of the world where it now operates, extending over five continents.

With this government backing, the airline has been able to move ahead with essential long-range planning of routes, frequency and equipment expansion.

In addition to the San Francisco route, CPA has a new non-stop service linking Toronto and Honolulu which started October 31. Studies have been made on possible destinations beyond Rome — such as Athens, Beirut, Tehran and Istanbul.

Non-stop flights between Vancouver and Amsterdam and Toronto-Rome, normally limited to the heavy summer traffic period, have been retained this winter.

SPACEMASTERS

Three of the four long-bodied versions of the DC-8, the Model 63 "Spacemaster", which CPA has on order, will be delivered to CPA in September and October this year. The fourth is expected in April, 1968. Carrying 205 passengers, these $10 million super-jets will substantially increase the airline's capacity on high-density routes.

$26 Million Base Planned For Vancouver

Canadian Pacific Airlines recently confirmed its intention to retain its world-wide headquarters in Vancouver by announcing that a $26 million maintenance and overhaul base will be built at Vancouver International Airport.

The company's head office has been in Vancouver since it commenced international operations in 1949. The new base will be capable of handling the 2,000 mph supersonic transports expected in the 1970's, as well as the long-bodied "Spacemaster" DC-8's and 500-passenger "jumbo jets" of the future.

NEW FACILITIES

The new facilities are expected to meet the airline's maintenance requirements for the next 20 years.

The base will be located on a site just east of the new Department of Transport terminal now under construction. Work is expected to start late this year with completion by late spring of 1969.

CPA was one of the first airlines in the world to announce a maintenance base geared to the requirements of the supersonic era of the future.

Non-Stop Daily Flights To Link B.C.-California

The Lions Gate and the Golden Gate will be only 120 minutes apart when Canada's newest air service is launched on Thursday.

In a pre-inaugural flight of Canadian Pacific Airlines' non-stop service between Vancouver and San Francisco, a group of 60 B.C. business leaders and a press contingent will board a DC-8 jet at 8:30 a.m. for a fast, two-hour trip to the Bay City.

Heading the impressive guest list will be Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill, Canadian Pacific Board Chairman N. R. Crump and CPA President J. C. Gilmer.

The flight will be a preview of the regular daily service which begins next Monday. With breakfast southbound and dinner on the return trip, the guests will sample CPA's famed inflight service and meals.

DAILY SERVICE

The new route will be the first daily non-stop service between Vancouver and San Francisco, and will be the first CPA destination in the continental United States.

Seven days a week, a CPA DC-8 jet will take off from Vancouver at 8 a.m., arriving at San Francisco at 10 a.m. The return trip will leave San Francisco at 10:50 a.m., arriving at Vancouver at 12:50 p.m.

NEW FACILITIES

The VIP group on Thursday's pre-inaugural flight will be piped aboard by the Vancouver Police Pipe Band. The brawny, kilted policemen will also board the jet to participate in ceremonies at San Francisco.

AIRPORT WELCOME

A brief welcoming ceremony is planned at San Francisco Airport and a car cavalcade will take the visitors downtown where another VIP group of San Franciscans will join the Canadians at a luncheon at the Fairmont Hotel.

Mr. Pickersgill will be featured speaker. There will be welcoming messages from the City of San Francisco and the Chamber of Commerce.

HON. J. W. PICKERSGILL

New Service Lauded By Pickersgill

The following message has been received by Canadian Pacific Airlines from Transport Minister Pickersgill:

"It gives me great pleasure, as Canada's Minister of Transport, to extend my congratulations and best wishes to Canadian Pacific Airlines on the occasion of the inauguration of an important new service between my country and the United States.

"For CPA it is another step forward as one of Canada's two international flag carriers.

"For our two countries this new air link provides yet another tie between British Columbia and California, a pioneering association that dates back to the gold rush days of the 1800's.

"The warmth and duration of this friendship is reflected in the need for this modern communications link between Vancouver and San Francisco."

New CPA Offices Opened In Union Square

A modern new office in the St. Francis Hotel on San Francisco's famous Union Square has been opened by CPA in conjunction with its new daily non-stop service to Vancouver connecting to its 56,500-mile world route pattern.

The airline has maintained a sales organization in California for some years. It now is stepping up its activities and has launched an extensive advertising and promotional campaign to make Californians more aware of B.C., Canada and Canada's Centennial celebrations, including Montreal's Expo '67.

CPA Major Employer

Airline Boosts B.C. Economy

Start of the first daily non-stop air service to San Francisco is another chapter in the story of Canadian Pacific Airlines and Vancouver.

Shortly before it commenced its first international route (between Vancouver and Australia) in July, 1949, the airline moved its headquarters to Vancouver.

This city was the centre of a vast "X" shaped route pattern stretching on the one hand from Sydney through Vancouver and over the now-famous Polar Route to Amsterdam, and on the other from Hong Kong, through Tokyo, Vancouver, Mexico City to Buenos Aires.

As more routes were added — Montreal to Lisbon, Madrid and Rome, Montreal/Toronto to Mexico City, Montreal to Amsterdam and Rome, the "X" pattern has been altered, but Vancouver remained the keystone.

As headquarters for this world-wide operation, CPA employs some 2,260 people in the Vancouver area, with a payroll of $14 million. Average pay is well above the norm, thanks to the highly-skilled nature of the work of a great many of its employees.

The airline spends over $7 million annually to purchase goods and services in British Columbia. There is jet and piston-engine fuel for its aircraft, printing services, equipment ranging from large service vehicles to tiny plastic shakers.

To provide for over 1,200 meals which are put on its aircraft each day in Vancouver alone — nearly half a million a year — CPA purchases from B.C. suppliers annually around 44 tons of meat, four tons of salmon, 25 tons of chicken, 12 tons of butter, 25 tons of potatoes, 25,000 quarts of milk, 23,000 dozen eggs, 35,000 loaves of bread, over 31,000 dozen rolls, and much more.

San Francisco has a rich cultural heritage. The War Memorial Opera House is the scene of splendid opera, symphony and ballet.

Food And Fun In San Francisco

You can dine around the world with a choice of over a thousand international restaurants; and you can take your pick of colorful night-life entertainment. Where? All within a few famous blocks of geographically square San Francisco... the old city of young vitality, which proudly contains the best aspects of life in the United States.

No other city is more alive, more upbeat, or "with it" quite like the City on the Bay. And nowhere is San Francisco's worldliness more evident than in its cuisine. Cosmopolitan influences have been at work in the kitchens since the Gold Rush days when Frenchmen, Germans, and Chinese flocked ashore from the early sailing vessels. Over the years the Italians, Americans, Basques, Filipinos, Indians, Polynesians, Japanese, Mexicans, Russians, Spanish, and Scandinavians have added their exotic contributions to the local art of good eating. San Francisco upholds the tradition for fine foods of infinite variety... and the gourmet menu is waiting for your inspection. What better place to sneak a few extra calories?

Then there's the night-life! This is where the action really is! And it comes in a wide variety of styles.

It comes with the Whisky-a-Go-Go and discotheque dancing.

It comes with topless swim dancers, smokey nightclub scenes, frenetic drummers in a hip jazz combo.

It comes with beat poets in coffee houses, and Italian bars where the entertainment is flowery, operatic and highly vocal.

And it comes with sparkling floorshows. Glittering reviews. The legitimate theatre, ballet and opera. Big name stars of show biz. Every night of the week San Francisco bursts aglow with gaiety and fun.

Your first night on the town might find you at one (or both) of the two most famous hotels — The Fairmont or the Hilton — either hotel, elegantly San Francisco. The Fairmont, atop Nob Hill, is world famous. The Hilton, new and cosmopolitan, is absolutely lavish. Both offer a setting for supper you'll long remember, a dinner you won't forget.

The Fairmont Tonga Room — A Polynesian island in the center of San Francisco. Tribal masks, soft falling rain in a glimmering pool. This is your exotic setting for a full course Polynesian feast.

The Hilton Gazebo Room — Here the mood is intimate, the dinner delicious. A brilliant buffet boasts appetizers and salads, warm continental entrees and French desserts. Delectable. And you can savor each as many times as you'd like.

Then, after eating, glistening lights may lead you to Bimbo's 365 Club, one of your entertainment highlights. Bimbo's, the home of the world famous Girl in the Fishbowl. See it all, the complete show from beginning to end. You'll probably drop in to Finocchio's, too. That most talked about, unusual San Francisco night club.

And you'll enjoy other magnificent shows: Sinaloa, Forbidden City, The Venetian Room, Gomans' Gay 90's, Purple Onion, Bora Bora, The Hungry i. During the evening visit Nob Hill, too. See the City lights from the Top of the Mark. All part of your memorable evening in San Francisco.

Originally a desert of sand dunes, Golden Gate Park today has 1017 acres of green lawns, trees, lakes, flowers and bridge paths. View is of the Park's great glass Conservatory (patterned after London's Kew Gardens).

PAGEANT

February 18-26 — Chinese New Year Celebration. All of Chinatown and a host of the community's friends pay tribute to the new year—4665, the Year of the Ram during this festival week. The decorations, the spontaneous lion dance in the streets, the holiday foods prepared for the occasion, the firecrackers — all have a special significance at this time. But no symbol is more important than the Chinese dragon, the protector of the Chinese people. See this 12-foot long beast preceded by thousands of firecrackers twist and writhe through the streets during the exciting two-hour Chinese New Year Parade February 25. Beginning at 7 p.m. at Market and First Streets, the parade follows a route going west on Market to Grant, north on Grant to Bush, east on Bush to Kearny Street, left on Kearny to the reviewing stand at Portsmouth Plaza. Grandstand seats will be sold by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, 730 Sacramento Street. To accommodate all the celebrants, Grant Avenue in Chinatown is closed to traffic from 7 p.m. to midnight on the 24th, 25th and 26th. The fairest and most fragile Oriental beauty, thereafter known as Miss Chinatown U.S.A., is chosen February 18 at the Pageant at the Masonic Auditorium. The Coronation Grand Ball February 24 at the Fairmont Hotel is only one of the many functions, private and public, where she reigns. A complete program of events is available on request.

Friendly Vietnamese Killed By U.S. Marines' Mistake

SAIGON (CP) — Six Vietnamese civilians were killed and 10 others wounded last weekend when U.S. marine howitzers shelled two friendly villages by mistake, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

He said buildings were damaged in the two villages, Vinh Lai and Luong Kim, six miles north of South Vietnam's northernmost city of Quang Tri.

The incident is the latest in a series of misdirected American shelling and bombing attacks which have killed or wounded hundreds of South Vietnamese civilians.

The spokesman said it is known that government authorities had cleared targets in the area for "harassment and interdiction" by U.S. 105-millimetre howitzers Saturday and Sunday, when the incident occurred.

Seriously wounded villagers were taken to hospital while food, clothing and building materials were sent into the villages by the Americans, the spokesman said.

Another four Vietnamese civilians were killed Saturday and nine wounded when an American destroyer mistakenly shelled another friendly hamlet 11 miles south of Da Nang, it was announced Monday by the U.S. military command.

Meanwhile, U.S. and South Vietnamese government troops continued Operation Cedar Falls against a Viet Cong stronghold known as the Iron Triangle beginning 30 miles northwest of Saigon. They said they had killed 678 guerrillas since the operation began Jan. 8.

In the air war, U.S. B-52s rained bombs in the middle of the demilitarized zone today.

The B-52s made two other raids during the day, both in Tay Ninh province northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

Bad weather closed in over North Vietnam again and U.S. pilots were limited to 42 missions Monday, the first time for a week that the missions fell below 50.

One plane, an air force F-4C Phantom jet, was shot down by Communist ground fire. It was the 466th announced U.S. plane loss over the North.

The B-52 raid in the demilitarized zone was aimed at a North Vietnamese troop concentration in the centre of the six-mile-wide buffer area between North and South Vietnam.

A U.S. military spokesman predicted a reduction in air raids against North Vietnam for the next six weeks because of bad weather.

U.S. military sources reported that only about 2,500 prisoners of war are being held in South Vietnam, far fewer than generally had been believed in view of the weekly casualty reports listing hundreds of prisoners taken each week.

Opening lead—three of clubs. One of the most publicized rules of defense is that you must not make a play which gives declarer a ruff and discard. There is no doubt that this is a good principle to follow on most hands, but there is also no doubt that the rule should be disregarded whenever the circumstances indicate that violating it will benefit the defense.

For example, take this case where East found the best line of defense despite the strictures of the rule.

West led a club against four spades and East cashed the A-K. It was obvious from the lead of the three followed by the five that West had started with three clubs to the jack, but, despite this, East continued with another club, knowing full well that he was giving declarer a ruff and discard.

South ruffed in dummy and led a trump, but East won with the ace and returned still another club. Declarer was unable to cope with this return, as he could not prevent West from scoring the queen of spades for the setting trick.

South would have made the contract easily but for East's persistence with clubs. East's method of defense was certainly well reasoned. Having cashed the A-K of clubs, he realized that the only possible way of beating the contract was for his side to score two trump tricks. Obviously the defense had no tricks coming in either hearts or diamonds (even if West had the king of diamonds).

By continuing with clubs, East knew he would beat the hand if West had the Q-x or J-x of trumps, and that he would lose nothing by giving declarer a ruff and discard even if West's trump holding was anything less than that. East had everything to gain and nothing to lose by persisting with clubs.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Another good day! As with Tuesday, both business and personal interests will be governed by exceptionally generous influences, with emphasis on the former during the morning hours, and on the latter during the P.M. An excellent Venus aspect especially favors romance, artistic and cultural pursuits.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that even if, during the past couple of months, you may have been disappointed in the progress of material interests, it would be advisable, nevertheless, to step up efforts now, since you recently entered a fine planetary cycle which will last until April 15th — a cycle which will be highly beneficial where both job and monetary interests are concerned. Other good financial prospects are promised in mid-July and during the first week of October. Nevertheless, it would be well to avoid extravagance in May and June; also from mid-October to mid-December, since your next upturn along these lines will not occur until the first of next January, when you will enter another excellent 3-month cycle on all scores.

Social and family affairs should be generally harmonious for most of the year ahead, but do be on guard against tension and domestic friction between early November and mid-December. Sentimental matters should prove unusually happy during most of the next 12 months, but most outstanding periods for new romance and/or marriage will occur in early April, in late August, late October and/or late December. The weeks between June 1st and September 15th, the latter part of October and late December. A child born on this day will be artistically inclined, highly imaginative and emotional — even in the face of trivia.

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

REMEMBER Al Jolson's often-imitated posture while he belted out songs like "Mammy" and "April Showers"? Well, David Ewen, in his anecdote-packed book, "American Popular Songs," declares that necessity was the mother of this stance. Jolson, scheduled to star in an extravaganza called "Honeymoon Express," in 1913, at the Winter Garden, developed an in-grown toenail during rehearsals. He was suffering such pain on opening night, that when it came time to sing the still-popular "You Made Me Love You, I Didn't Want to Do It," he dropped to one knee to ease the pressure on the aching foot, then stretched out his arms to keep his balance. The audience responded ecstatically, and this became a standard part of his act for the rest of his life.

John G. Fuller bears the full responsibility for the following: 1. A horse breeder invariably has young colts bottle-fed after they're three days old. He knows well that a foal and his mummy are soon parted. 2. A tolerant cow stood for absolutely anything her favorite bull tried to get away with. She reasoned, "To err is human, to forgive, bovine."

Gordon Heads Study Group On Foreign Controls Here

OTTAWA (CP) — Former finance minister Walter Gordon was named Monday to head a committee of ministers to study foreign control and ownership of Canadian industry.

The committee and the leadership of Mr. Gordon, who recently rejoined the cabinet as a minister without portfolio, was announced by Prime Minister Pearson.

Also announced were plans for a task force that will make initial studies. It will report to the committee, which then will make recommendations to the government.

On the committee with Mr. Gordon are Finance Minister Sharp, Veterans Affairs Minister Teillet, Manpower Minister Marchand and John Turner, minister without portfolio.

China, Land Of Calamity Faces Man-Made Crisis

For years, many Westerners have pictured Mao Tse-tung as a sort of monolithic monarch who bent China to his will. Actually, troubles and dissensions have plagued him since his Communist took control in 1949. An Associated Press specialist in Communist affairs traces the story in a series of articles back-grounding the current upheaval in China.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

China is a land of calamity. For at least 2,000 years its people have been the victims of disasters, natural and man-made. Another man-made disaster may be just around the corner.

The current power struggle dates back at least a decade. Behind the political troubles lie the ancient economic ones, aggravated now by reckless totalitarian measures which desperately sought cures. An attempt was made a decade ago to turn China's teeming millions into what a French observer once described as a "nation of blue ants." It failed, miserably, and the fuse of today's great political explosion began sputtering.

The "great proletarian cultural revolution" launched last summer by Mao Tse-tung, chairman of the Chinese Communist party and his chief ally, Defence Minister Lin Biao, was just one more step in the developing upheaval which now has reached a new and critical stage.

BASED IN HUNGER

At the base of China's troubles are backwardness and empty bellies—this despite the fact China has achieved five atomic explosions and produced a nuclear-tipped missile.

For at least 2,000 years, feeding China's population has been a major problem. For that long, China has been subject to floods, droughts and famines, tormented by eroded soil and ferocious rivers, condemned to plagues of pests.

China is slightly smaller than Canada, but only one-tenth of its land can be cultivated, and less than half of that is good farmland. This must feed a population of 750,000,000, growing at a current annual rate of 15,000,000.

China might have had a chance with Sun Yat-sen's 1911 revolution against the Manchu dynasty. The agent for destruction of that revolution was the Kung Chan Tang (Chinese Communist party) created by agents of Moscow's Communist International, including a man named Nguyen Than, who now is Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam.

PURGES SOVIETS

Mao, who was at the founding meeting in Shanghai in 1921, later purged Soviet elements and the party went over to insurrection which continued into revolution, with Chu Teh as the organizer of Mao's 4th Route Army. Today Chu, at 80, is pilloried by Mao's "great proletarian cultural revolution" as a traitor to communism.

Mao had many clashes with Stalin's Soviet party and nurtured his revolution out of Moscow's reach.

The revolution almost failed. He saved it by his famed 8,000-mile Long March to escape Chiang's troops. Thousands perished. But the remnants holed up in 10,000 caves around Yenan in the bleak northwest. The Japanese attack on China and then the Second World War gave Mao's forces a new lease on life.

Eight years of war left China prostrate and exhausted. The result was a Communist victory on the mainland by Oct. 1, 1949.

Mao and his party went through several convulsions thereafter and China's people continued to suffer hardship.

1958 KEY YEAR

The current convulsion may trace directly to early 1958. It was then that Mao's politburo adopted a "resolution on the establishment of people's communes in agricultural communities." This was Mao's Great Leap Forward, by which he expected to transform China's backward economy.

Opposition became evident by the end of 1958 at the eighth Communist party congress, at Wuchang.

The leap envisaged not only a new regimentation for agricultural production, but a big advance in steel production by the device of backyard smelters. In 1958, about 70,000,000 men and women in towns and cities were dragged into this steel production effort.

By the end of that year, 98 per cent of all farms were on the "people's commune" system, a total of almost 125,000,000 families. Those who objected that this was a desperately reckless attempt to cure China's ills were branded "right-wing opportunists."

TWEED, Ont. (CP). There's nothing wrong in being an uncle 28 times over, but starting at 41 years old is a bit late. David Rogers, 69-year-old Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rogers of Tweed, has 28 nephews and more than seven of them older than himself.

The objectors included many who today are judged to be among Mao's chief opponents.

The "leap" became the object of scorn and ridicule from the Soviet Communist party. So it was one of the contributing factors not only to today's convulsion, but to the deep split in world communism which developed swiftly after 1958.

It proved to be a great leap backward. Mao faced rising discontent and insistent demands to reverse his course.

The ferment in China was rising to the top.

Non-professional employees walked out and formed picket lines at the Central Newfoundland Hospital at Grand Falls today in defiance of a government order forbidding a strike.

The strike by 135 workers started at 9 a.m. The action was approved at a meeting of Local 990 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees Monday night, a few hours after the federal government moved a section of the Labor Act to declare a state of emergency at the hos-

Non-Professionals' Strike Hits Newfoundland Hospital

President Bill Wiseman of the local said the national union has pledged support. He said news of the government's action outlawing the strike met with an "uproar" at the union meeting.

Birdies and eagles, yes, but what golfer expects to score a cobra? Albie Clemen, a traffic officer at Oudtshoorn, 200 miles west of Port Elizabeth, South Africa, duffed his drive at the 14th hole on the Oudtshoorn course. The golfers found it lying on a cobra curled up in the sun. The cobra reared and peared viciously at the players. According to the rules, the ball must be played from where it lies. The golfers studied the dangerous lie and decided to play the cobra. Using clubs as weapons, the six-foot poisonous snake soon was routed. The game continued, without penalty.

Charles Crutchley, 71, who drove for 50 years without a driver's licence, said Monday in Nanaimo he'd like to try for his licence but his 19-year-old car "won't make the hill downtown." "I've had so much trouble with it," Mr. Crutchley said. "Think I'll buy myself a new car and then I'll take the test, probably before the end of the month." Mr. Crutchley was fined $20 by a Nanaimo magistrate last month for driving half a century without a licence. Since then, he has passed the written part of the test.

The Plumbers' union in Prince George says it's going to move its office from the downtown area because some members have been fined for making illegal turns. The office is located on a street that was recently changed to one-way traffic only. Bert Traxler, business agent of Local 170 of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, said rather than argue with city hall about changing the street from one-way traffic the office will be moved from downtown. "You can't beat city hall," he said.

Mass firings of carmen at the Peace River power project were blamed by a union official Monday on a slip-up in the hiring system. Arnold Smith, president of the provincial council of carpenters, said in Vancouver some men had been given jobs without proper screening or trade testing.

Kamloops Mayor and Mrs. Peter Wing leave Seattle today for the 18th World Congress of the International Union of Local Authorities at Bangkok, Thailand, Feb. 4-12. After the conference Mr. and Mrs. Wing will travel to Formosa for four days as guests of the Chinese Nationalist Government. Mr. Wing is the first person of Chinese ancestry to serve as mayor of a Canadian municipality.

The Confederation Train isn't like any train you've ever seen. It's not like any exhibit, either. As you walk through, you'll have the feeling that you are actually living the whole history of Canada. Quite an experience!

1. In the first exhibition car, you go right back to the creation of the Continent—walk through a primeval forest and hear the sounds of life that existed millions of years ago. Then you see how the ice age came crunching down, changing and shaping our country. This is how Canada was formed—and you'll see it happening!

2. Have you ever wondered how it must have been to be an early explorer of Canada? These men were real adventurers! Here, you realize, perhaps for the first time, the tremendous magnitude of their explorations. Then came the settlers, and you share their discomfort and dreams as they cross the ocean in the hold of an immigrant ship.

3. Now you discover, as the early settlers did, that life in the New World was not quite what you'd been led to believe. The difficulties were numerous. You begin to appreciate how much Confederation meant to Canadians as you move from the confusion of settlement life into the stillness of the Confederation Chamber.

4. 1867 to 1876—a time of temperamental outbursts, changing ideas and enormous progress. You share the excitement as Canada becomes a continent bordered by three oceans... live through the Riel Rebellion... the completion of the rail line to the Pacific... the Klondike rush... the often stormy elections of the five Prime Ministers of those times. Canada was growing up.

5. The coming of the twentieth century—the Boer War—a flood of immigrants from Eastern Europe—and you experience the frightening din of trench warfare as seen from a dugout in World War I. The twenties roar in with flappers, peep shows, player pianos and a Mack Sennett movie. Suddenly, the stock crash—the bleakness of the thirties ending, in 1939, with newspapers proclaiming "Canada at War with Germany!"

6. The second world war—Canada begins producing warplanes, tanks and ships while her heroes fight and die abroad. Prime Minister Mackenzie King announces the war's end. Now Canadians turn anew to science, politics, medicine, industry, the arts and international affairs. Our achievements in these fields give every indication that our greatest era is about to begin...
